

Illinois Law Firm Dreads Bankruptcy Petitions No More

“

LawStore's Bankruptcy DoCompanion(s) expedited the bankruptcy filing which would have otherwise taken several months to complete, disadvantaging both the debtor as well as the law firm.

CHALLENGE

An Illinois-based law firm had multiple debtor-clients on their roster. Having become surfeited with the pursuit of thousands of documents for filing their bankruptcy petitions, they approached LawStore and enquired about our bankruptcy-related services. And we had just the right thing for them. Or should we say person(s)?

SOLUTION

We promptly signed the firm up with a DoCompanion and team, who contacted the debtors, patiently explained the detailed document collection procedure, and emailed them a specially-drafted questionnaire, which not only helps to get a hold of all the debtors' relevant information but also lists out the documents that they need to file before the bankruptcy court, including copies of all lawsuits, judgments, warrants, garnishments, and tax returns.

In order to avoid overwhelming the debtors, the DoCompanion(s) assisted them with filling out the questionnaire. They also called the debtors and emailed them reminders until they obtained both the questionnaires and the complete set of documents from them.

RESULTS

The DoCompanion(s)

- » Made sure all the bankruptcy documents were efficiently procured, organized and delivered to the law firm.
- » Expedited the bankruptcy filing which would have otherwise taken several months to complete, disadvantaging both the debtor as well as the law firm.
- » Relieved the law firm of the unpleasant task of having to chase down debtor-clients.
- » Allowed the law firm to focus on far more enjoyable and lucrative legal work.
